

De castellanum... [Main body of text, dense Latin script, likely a legal or administrative document. The text is written in a medieval Gothic script and covers the majority of the page's surface.]

135. [A line of text, possibly a signature or a specific clause, located below the main body of text.]

[A line of text, possibly a signature or a specific clause, located below the previous line.]

[A line of text, possibly a signature or a specific clause, located below the previous line.]

[A line of text, possibly a signature or a specific clause, located below the previous line.]

[A line of text, possibly a signature or a specific clause, located below the previous line.]

[A line of text, possibly a signature or a specific clause, located below the previous line.]

[A line of text, possibly a signature or a specific clause, located below the previous line.]

[A line of text, possibly a signature or a specific clause, located below the previous line.]

[A line of text, possibly a signature or a specific clause, located below the previous line.]

